Satsuma Kiriko(Japan Made)

Originated in Kagoshima, Satsuma Kiriko is the representative high-end traditional handicraft in Japan since the 19th century.

“Kiriko” means crystal glass carved with patterns in Japanese. Satsuma Kiriko is renowned for the overlapping of transparent crystal glass with colored crystal glass which creates a distinguished beauty of its own under the exquisite cutting workmanship by the proficient craftsmen.

By manipulating the cutting angles and depth, the unique gradation effect of Satsuma Kiriko called “Halo” is created. The finely carved crystal glass shines like jewels when being refracted by light. The exquisiteness and meticulousness of Satsuma Kiriko perfectly presents the superb craftsmanship of Japanese artisans.

Deshimaru

Satsuma Kiriko made its revival in 1985. Mr. Tsutomu Deshimaru, a master craftsman of Kiriko, has been involved in the production of Satsuma Kiriko since then. The famous glass workshop in Kagoshima, Deshimaru, was established under his name in 2011. To pursue the realm of perfection, Deshimaru works tirelessly and persistently refines the skill of producing Kiriko.

While upholding the traditional workmanship, Deshimaru adds new values in the creations with modern innovative expressions. Deshimaru reflects a modern world of Satsuma Kiriko with new sparkle in its tradition and nostalgia.

Eternal Time Flow

With the theme of "Eternal Time Flow", Satsuma Kiriko timepiece is engraved with cutting patterns of:

- Yarai (Fence)
- Kikumon (Chrysanthemum)
- Sasanoha (Bamboo Leaf)
- Nanakomon (Fish)

Satsuma Kiriko timepiece includes either "12" or "24" cuts of each pattern, the two significant numbers representing the rhythm of time.

An exquisite combination of the smooth, wooden case & delicate Arabesque pattern, highlights the classical and aesthetic features of the clock, grabbing the attention of those with the most refined taste. Centuries long craftsmanship combines the beautiful inlay art of Italy and RHYTHM's magical technology forming the Intarsia clock.

Shimmering with beaming luster, the rotating pendulum is made with top-grade crystals. Illuminating the moving object, one will see a never-ending rotary motion that will never become old.

Inlay Art

The Arabesque pattern on the wooden case is made piece by piece from precisely cut wood. After the boiling, steaming, and painting procedures, the wood pieces are combined to form the vivid flower and leaf decoration. Created by proficient carpenters' extraordinary skills, each Intarsia clock is a true masterpiece of wooden artwork.

Life of Wood

The wood materials used for inlay is carefully chosen. After repetitive steaming and boiling procedures, the wood acquires the fascinating color changing feature. The wood material grows darker progressively, making the clock further elegant as time goes by.

DISC ORGEL CLOCKS

The Disc Orgel clock has explicitly been made to give you joy with its 27cm diameter disc, playing joyful melodies in a 45 valves music box. While the disc rotates slowly, the tune touches the hearts and souls of the listeners. Plentiful in variation, the various pieces are sure to bring you an enjoyable time.

The history of the Music Orgel can be traced back to the 18th century. Initially functioning as a time-telling music box in a clock, it branched off to become what is today a music box performing beautiful music and telling time simultaneously. With the first music box being made by a clock technician in Switzerland, the Disc Orgel debuted in 1886. Different patterns of holes on the various discs determine the type of melody played, each expressing a unique piece.

ARITAYAKI PORCELAIN CLOCKS

The name "Aritayaki" originates from the beautiful town of Arita, located on Kyushu Island of Japan. Made with the finest Kaolin clay in Arita, the pure-white exterior of the porcelain gives off an unparalleled, shining surface. Aritayaki, formerly of contributions to the royalty and the accession of Asian and European collectors since the 17th century, is an astounding result of traditional Japanese craftsmanship. With the perfectly cut contour, untainted reflection, and gorgeous painting, one can never doubt its beauty and sophistication.

Magic Motion Clocks

The concept of Magic Motion clocks comes from “Karakuri,” a traditional Japanese mechanical device that takes you by surprise, utilizing a complex system. RHYTHM created the Magic Motion clocks, mimicking the overall idea behind the mechanisms and adding different features to make it noticeable, among other clocks. Lights, synchronized with the melodies played, illuminate not only the clock itself but also the environment surrounding it. Genuine crystals embedded in the clock are a perfect combination with the wooden frame, coming in a variety of different types, embellishing the clock even further. Whether it be the living room or the master room, the wall clock is sure to suit any room, lightening up the mood to create a comfortable environment for everyone. As a bonus, the night sensor function temporarily disables all features except the time-telling feature when the room is dark, allowing users to enjoy the tranquility while gazing at the beauty of the clock.

With Stand

A Series

Bringing the universal knowledgeable paper specification into play, new "A series" has refined your imagination for interior decorations. All specification, including the selection of font, the proportion between frame and dial, etc. are perfectly calculated to meet the modern interior design trend. Clocks are not belonging to the wall or your bedside only! They interact with and respond to your home design. They could be your decorations on open shelf, useful washroom gadget and a close friend of your plants.....

Design without any Boundaries.
